China VoIP & Digital Telecom Subsidiary Wins Government Awards

May 14, 2009 (Filing Services Canada) -- China VoIP & Digital Telecom Inc. (CVDT - OTCBB), announced that the company and its International Business Communication Center (IBCC) platform won the government recognitions during the Shandong E-Commerce Development and Innovation Conference, sponsored by Shandong Information Industry Department (IID) and which was held on May 6, 2009 in Jinan.

In the Conference, Jinan Yinquan received the honor as the "Model E-Commerce Company of Shandong". In addition, Yinquan's IBCC platform, designed, developed and launched in late 2008, was selected as "The Most Valuable E-commerce Product of Shandong". A special ceremony was hosted by the Shandong IID during the conference to present the prize.

Mr. Li Kunwu, Chairman and CEO of CVDT accepted the government awards on behalf of the company. He stated, "This award demonstrates governmental recognition of Yinquan as one of the leading E-commerce companies. Our innovative IBCC platform is designed to meet all communication needs for an organization." Recently, Yinquan's IBCC has been endorsed as the designated communication service platform for the 11th National Games of China. It will run as the sub-website of the National Games' official website for athletes, coaches, staff, volunteers and sponsors so they may enjoy unified communication services, including an online office system, telephone, SMS, email, fax, conference call and video conference.

"In 2009, we will focus on marketing the IBCC platform and delivering quality virtualization solutions," added Mr. Li. "We believe this will be a substantial growth engine for our company as we have seen the market potential for our products and services expand significantly."
